Contents

Editorial

9

Jakov Grigor’evič Rokitjanskij: The „Purge“ – The Takeover of the Rjazanov Institute by Adoratskij

13

Documents

23

1. Letters, February/March 1931:
   - Ernst Czóbel to Mark Zorkij, February 11, 1931 23
   - Mark Zorkij to Ernst Czóbel, February 17, 1931 24
   - Osip Pjatnickij to Ivan Tovstucha, March 2, 1931 24

2. Minutes of the meeting on the examination of the MEI employees, March 4, 1931 27

3. Minutes of the meeting on the examination of the MEI employees, March 5, 1931 79

4. Minutes of the meeting on the examination of the MEI employees, March 20, 1931 100

5. List of MEI employees whose activity in the Institute is no longer desired, March 1931 102

6. Report by Vladimir Viktorovič Adoratskij on the Lenin-Institut and the Marx-Engels-Institut to the Plenum of the EKKI, April 1, 1931 107

Wladislaw Hedeler: Between Academic Research and Stalin’s Drive to Power. The Destiny of the Marx-Engels-Lenin-Institute employees (1931–1938)

121

1. The purge of the Institute after the settling of accounts with the „Unionsbüro“ 123

2. The new director 135

3. The end of collaboration with the foreign correspondents 136

4. Research in Paris 137

5. New cadre 140

6. The housing question 145

7. The battle on the editorial front 150

8. Self-criticism and accusation: an expression of revolutionary vigilance 152

9. The „case“ of Alexander Emel 161

10. The remaining contacts abroad 165

11. The difficulties of the IMEL as a branch of the ZK 169

12. Adoratskij’s analysis of the February-March Plenum and its effects on the IMEL 171

13. The 1938 show trial 175

14. The finale 177
Rolf Hecker: In the midst of National Socialism and Stalinism: the Continuation and the End of the First MEGA (1931–1941)

1. Introduction and review of the literature 181
2. The integration of the IMEL through the ZK resolutions 186
3. The changes in the MEGA editorial plan after the „Purge“ of March 1931 192
4. The publication of the first Russian „Works“ edition and the Marx-Engels-Archiv under the new director 206
5. The end of the Marx-Engels-Verlagsgesellschaft in Berlin and the new conditions of production and distribution after the Nazi seizure of power in Germany 217
6. „Marx belongs to us!“ – the „Karl-Marx-Jahr“ in 1933 228
7. The problem of the editing of Marx’s excerpts and the subsequent abandonment of the MEGA 236
8. The IMEL correspondents abroad 241
9. The first edition of Marx’s 1857-58 economic manuscripts as the Grundrisse der Kritik der politischen Ökonomie (1939-41) 252
10. Résumé 267

Documents
1. General plan of the MEGA, April 1931 270
2. Ernst Czóbel: On the economic manuscripts of Marx and Engels, April 17, 1931 272
3. Pavel Veller: Marx’s economic manuscripts of 1857–1858 (Regard to their editing), August 1934 277
4. Ladislaus Rudač, Lev Chanonovič Segal’: Declaration on the publication of the MEGA, March 25, 1936 292
5. Aleksandr Feliksovič Kon to Valdimir Viktorovič Adoratskij on Marx’s unpublished economic manuscripts, November 1938 307

Wladislaw Hedeler, Rolf Hecker, Bernd Florath: Vladimir Viktorovič Adoratskij – Life and Work (August 7, 1878 – June 5, 1945) 312

Document: A letter from V. V. Adoratskij to Karl Kautsky (1911) 320

Lutz Dieter Behrendt: Valdimir Viktorovič Adoratskij as the Director of the Party Historical Institute of Red Professors 329

Reinhard Müller: „The Great Cleanup“. The „Purge“ of the Marx-Engels-Institut in the Moscow Notebook of Hugo Huppert 347

Document: Hugo Huppert: From the Notebook 1930-1931 354

Hans Jäger: Good-bye to Moscow. Memories of an Emigrant (1963/64) 371
Ol’ga Konstantinovna Senekina – a researcher of the IMEL remembers (Jakov Rokitjanskij) 391

Short biographies 398
List of cited works by Marx and Engels 435
Name Index 438
Editorial comments, additions and corrections to Sonderband 2 457