

Contents

Editorial	5
In Commemoration of the 120th Anniversary of Engels's Death
Richard Sperl: Friederick Engels as Scientist. The Specificity of his Method of Study	7
Zhou Sichen: Friederick Engels's Study of Persian Grammar	67
Jean-Numa Ducange: Friederick Engels and the First Steps of the French Socialist Movement (1891–1895)	75
On Marx's Excerpts
Rolf Hecker: Thematic Diversity and Contentual Constants in the Subject-Matter of Marx's Studies	89
Carl-Erich Vollgraf: Marx on the Successive Undermining of the Metabolism of Society in Developed Capitalistic Mass Production	106
Michael R. Krätke: Marx and World History	133
Fritz Fiehler: Marx's Theory of Crisis and his cyclical analysis. On Revolution, Overproduction, and Hegemony in the Neue Rheinische Zeitung. Political-Economical Revue from 1850	178
João Antonio de Paula, Hugo Eduardo da Gama Cerqueira, Leonardo Gomes de Deus, Carlos Eduardo Suprinyak, Eduardo da Motta e Albuquerque: Investigating Financial Innovation and Stock Exchanges. Marx's Notebooks on the Crisis of 1866 and Structural Changes in Capitalism	194
Rolf Hecker: Marx's Excerpts from Franz Xaver von Hlubek: The Theory of Agriculture in Its Entirety ... (Vienna 1853)	218
From the Editorial History of the MEGA
Martin Hundt: Researching the History of the first MEGA – A Thought-Provoking Field of Study for Marx-Engels-Editors	230

Albert Kapr: The Optimal Extrapolation of Texts, Slightly Elaborated as well as Aesthetically Appealing. On the Concept of the Formation of the MEGA (1975). With Comments by Werner Grahm and Richard Sperl	239
---	-----

Information

Manfred Schöncke: Karl Marx and his Visits to the Resort of Karlsbad in 1874, 1875, and 1876. Biographical Remarks on the Extant Correspondence	259
Zhao Yulan: The MEGA² in China	284
Contents	299