

Contents

Editorial	5
Hans-Joerg Sandkuehler: »...all things considered, only individual reding can make one intelligent« Congratuatory Speech for Martin Hundt	7
Richard Sperl: Martin Hundt's Contribution to the MEGA Edition of the Journalistic Writings of Marx and Engels	14
Rolf Dlubek: Martin Hundt's Contribution to the Scholarly Edition of Marx and Engels' Correspondence	23
Galina Danilovna Golovina: On the Traces of the Engels Family Archive	38
Gerd Callesen: »I would have prefered not to bother you with this gossip.« The Correspondence of Engels with Sorge and Schlueter in the USA (1889–90)	49
Bodo Morawe: Another Type of Politics: Heine's Republicanism	59
Peter-Anton von Arnim: The Destiny of the Literary Papers of Achim and Bettina von Arnim	83
Walter Schmidt: The Scattered Literary Papers of Wilhelm Wolff: their Destiny and Meaning for the History of Democracy, Socialism and the Working Class Movement (1830–64)	96
Bernd Fuellner: The English Readings of Weerth. Forgotten Pieces of a Literary Estate in the Bruno Kaiser Collection of the Staatsbibliothek zu Berlin	110
Lorely French: Sources and Scholarly Editions of Letters of Female Writers in the Romantic and pre-1848 Period	125
Lars Lambrecht: Karl Nauwerck. On the Coincidence of a Biography	135
Olaf Briese: Who was Rudolph von Gerolstein? On the Literary Origins and the Surrounding History of Marx and Engels' Heilige Familie	141

Erhard Kiehnbaum : “Be well, my dear son Fritz...”. Mathilde Franziska Anneke’s Letters to Friedrich Hammacher 1846–49	156
François Melis : A Newspaper Haunts Europa. Marx’s Editorial Copy of the Neue Rheinische Zeitung	171
Martin Hundt : Closing Remarks	176
Submitted Written Contributions:
Irina Hundt : Autobiographical Indications of a Turbulent Life for the Rights of Women. The Discovery and Organization of the Literary Papers of Louise Otto-Peters	180
Rolf Hecker : The “Discovery” of Letters of Marx in the Literary Papers of Moritz Elsner and their Susequent First Publication	200
Heinrich Gemkow : The Elderly Engels and Young Borkheim. A Fragment of their Correspondence	226